

Challenge Dates: October 24 - December 16

Dear Parents and Caregivers:

Our class is participating in the Give Me Twenty Reading Challenge this year to build reading-readiness skills and develop an at-home reading routine. The program is easy and fun!

This is how it works:

Each week from October 24 - December 16, we will read aloud as a class for at least 20 minutes per day at least five days per week. Every time we read aloud, we will write the name of the book or the amount of time read, on an interactive cutout. We will put all of the cutouts on a large, colorful wall display so we can keep track of what we have read.

At the end of the eight-week reading period, our class will be eligible for a chance to win R.E.D. Zone Rewards, including the book Snowmen at Night and a snowman building kit.

You can participate in the reading challenge with us by reading with your child at home and then writing the name of the books or the amount of time read, on cutouts. It's exciting to watch the cutouts cover the wall! By working together, we can prepare children to be successful at reading and enjoy it for a lifetime.

Thank you,

2011 Partner

Want to receive reading tips, ideas, and activities? Sign up for the Bound Together parent newsletter at www.bookitprogram.com/parents.

This parent letter is reproducible.